Thermofress® 3D Fabric

A natural mattress that uses premium elements

Our latest generation Visco Soy mattress is a perfect combination of science and nature.

Environmentally friendly by eliminating petroleum-by-products and replacing with plant based components.

The properties of plant based visco provide a feeling of weightlessness, relieving pressure. Various openings in the surface channel the air that provide continuous self ventilation, oxygenating while regulating temperature and moisture.

Aromatherapy essences of coconut, bamboo and aloe vera help promote sleep.

The latest in bedrest technology

In the 1970's NASA developed the viscoelastic foam to prevent back and neck injuries for the astronauts from take off trauma. In the 1990's viscoelastic foams were developed on a more commercial scale for therapeutic use in hospitals and homes.

A Healthy Spine

During sleep, the body regenerates and prepares to face the next day's activities. A healthy spine ensures elasticity and strength that's necessary for us to perform efficiently in our daily lives.

The spine is our body's axis so it is imperative that it is aligned correctly.

The Visco Soy Technology relieves and prevents ridgedness, strain and pain in the back and cervical area.

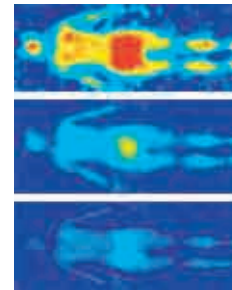

The Optimum Temperature

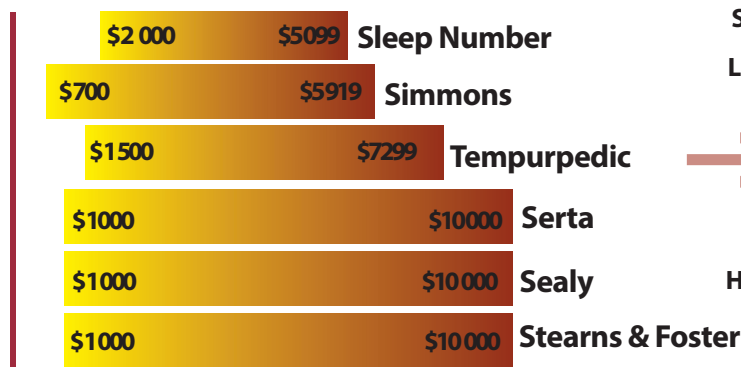

The Thermofress® 3D fabric provides an optimal temperature for relaxation. It incorporates an air chamber made of a three - dimensional volumetric woven fabric that uses the body movements to thermoregulate.

Blood Circulation

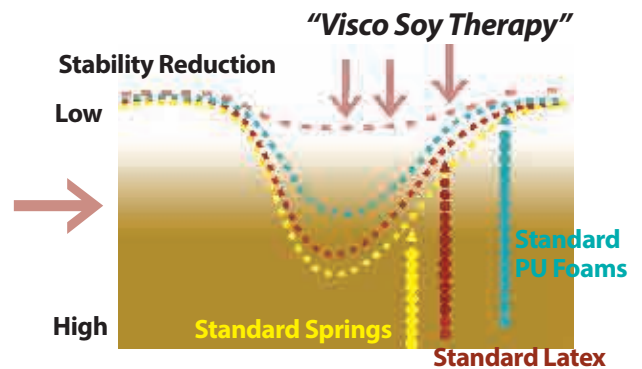

A mattress that does not support a body's contour can be the leading cause for constricting blood flow during sleep. This can increase pressure points and cause aggravating pain which can create a considerable loss of sleep.

The essence of a natural rest

Our Company harnessed the amazing potential of natural materials in a healthier more functional and more sustainable way.

The convenience of a good sleeping set

One of the primary needs of the human is body is to rest

The deeper and seamless the sleep, the greater the benefits for repair and renovation. There are several causes that brings us out of a state of deep sleep. The most common cause for the interruption is an uncomfortable sleep surface which is so bad that causes us to change positions. That movement causes a micro-awakening that interrupts our dreams.

Visco Soy Therapy is YOUR answer
It is not how long you sleep
it is how deep you sleep!
